Bible &Daily Living: On leaders and leadership

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER

INTRODUCTION

The Captain Of Our Ship

Lesson for May 10, 1981
Bible Study Passages: Hebrews 2:10-18; 3:1-19

Our nation went through an era of the seventies in which public trust in the leaders of our country dipped to an all-time low. Watergate shall always stand out in our memory as a dark period of our nation's history!

Leaders are only human, however. They commit wrong and err in their judgments. Sometimes our expectations of those who lead are unusually high and at times unobtainable. However, it is not asking too much of those who lead to fulfil the trust committed to them and to do so with the people in mind.

There is a leader to whom we can place our trust without reservation. That leader is Christ. He came and blazed a trail that those who follow will have life both abundant and eternal.

A Suffering Leader [Hebrews 2:10-18]

Christ came not with chariot and sword but with a staff of peace and love. When God sent the Son, he so designed that this Son should see and taste all the sufferings common to humanity. Thus, Christ tasted humiliation, brutality and death. Christ drank from the bitter cup of death in order to pioneer a trail that would lead to salvation for all who follow. God so designed the work of salvation to be accomplished through the sacrifical act of Christ.

To accomplish the mission of salvation and acceptance before God, Christ "became flesh" and identified himself with the suffering humanity. Christ claims us as sons and daughters of the heavenly Father, so that we are all of the same origin. And no matter how low a person may stoop, they do not completely lose the marks of their true roots and lineage. When we claim our roots and divine lineage, we are set free to become all that we are capable of achieving through this relationship.

The good news of the Gospel is that the help of Christ is available to those who call upon him. Christ endured the trials and temptations common to all people, he knew the temptation to sell out for that which is lower; he experienced the worldly offers to achieve self-gain. Throughout his temptation experience, Christ said not to the inner urges to accept political power and riches.

A Superior Leader [Hebrews 3:1-6]

All other leaders take a back seat to the leadership of Christ. All political platforms are secondary to the divine platform within the Gospel. All thrones and governmental seats are below the throne that Christ occupies.

Hebrews is the only New Testament writing that refers to Jesus as an apostle. As an apostle, Jesus was sent as God's ambassador and special representative to speak on behalf of God.

Hebrews also states that Christ is greater than the lawgiver, Moses. While Moses acted as God's representative and spokesman, his capacity for leadership was limited by his role as a servant. Christ, by contrast, was more than a servant, he was the Son of God. Such a position gave to him unlimited powers and authority.

Following The Leader [Hebrews 3:7-19]

When God spoke to us through the gift of his Son, there was no clearer word to be spoken. The hearing of God's voice is dependent upon our faith response to him. We have a daily choice whether we shall follow the word of God or to ignore it.

The Israelites did not enter the "Promised Land" and find rest because they choose to heed not the requirements God made upon them. Instead they roamed the wilderness for forty years, which is a long time to roam. Unbelief lengthens our journey and causes us much unrest. Our souls are indeed weary until they find their rest in the one who gives rest and help for burdened minds.

million Americans will reach the prime home buying age of 30 during the 1980s.

The need for money for housing in the early 1800s caused 37 men to create a home financing club in Frankford, Pa., now a part of Philadelphia. The Oxford Provident Building Association, as the club was called, laid the foundation for what is now the $610 billion savings and loan business.

"When the first savings and loan was founded, commercial banks gave low priority to home mortgage lending, Mr. Cosby said. "Small savings deposits were not really encouraged."

The people who organized Oxford Provident in January 1831 were American financial pioneers. Each member made regular savings deposits into the club's treasury until enough money was accumulated for each to purchase or build a home. Once everyone had a home, the association terminated.

Today's savings associations still receive deposits from savers, and then lend the funds to home buyers.

During the past 150 years, the savings and loan business has gone through some major changes, however, which have benefited both savers and home buyers.

Perhaps the biggest change, according to Mr. Cosby, occurred in the early 1970s with the introduction of a new type of savings account called the money market certificate. Also of the decade these higher-yielding accounts were earning money market interest rates and had become the most popular savings instrument.

With the introduction of interest checking account, the coming of consumer lending and the implementation of renegotiable rate home loans which have interest rates that can be adjusted up or down periodically - savings associations will be better able to meet the expected record demand for housing in the 1980s.

Kids enjoy banquet

The Children I Dept. of Liberty Baptist Church enjoyed a "Springtime Banquet", Saturday, April 11, 1981 from 5:00-7:00 p.m. at "Tanglewood Farm", home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McCormick in Spout Spring.

The blessing was given by Mr. McCormick, then the children and guests were served a delicious meal of fried chicken, gravy, creamed potatoes, stirring beans, hot rolls, jello salad, carrot strips, lemonade, chocolate cake with strawberry ice cream.

After a time of songs, storytelling and movies, the beautiful warm outdoors was calling the children to "come out and play". They joyfully obeyed and had a good time playing games. Favors of colored eggs with a candy chicken inside was given to each little guest as they left. It was truly a good time of good food and good fellowship.

Many thanks go to Mrs. John T. Ferguson, Sandra and Gloria Ferguson for helping prepare and serve this delicious "Springtime Banquet" meal.

Those attending were: Mrs. Bill Stratton, Jason Fox, Rodney Thompson, Steven Stratton, Thomas Jamerson, Alfance Cestaro, Mildred Hubbard, Martha Nolen, Amy Slade, Roxanne Williams, Jennifer White, Becca Carter, Shannan Williams, Jennifer Tweedy, Abby Tolly, Rhonda Kay Moore, Melissa McPadden, Mrs. Nettie Johnson, Mrs. Beulah Jamerson and Edith McCormick.

Balance the budget

Editor:

This is the year to begin balancing the budget according to Washington officials. We, of the Oakville Ruritan Club feel the same way. It will be held at the Oakville School at 8 a.m. May 9. A brunswick stew and a variety of booths will be waiting for you. Admission is free.

Start balancing your budget by helping us help the community.

Sincerely,
